Funeral Services For R. A. VanOrman

Despite the damp, disagreeable weather, hundreds gathered in honor of the memory of the late R. A. VanOrman, for seven years Chief Constable of the town of Raymond, and a man whom everyone respected and admired. Members of the Town Council acted as pall bearers, the Relief Society had charge of the many and beautiful floral offerings, and the Priesthood Quorum of which deceased was a member, led the procession from the Town Hall to the Stake House where the funeral services were held.

Seats were at a premium, and it is stated that the funeral was amongst the largest ever held in Raymond. The services were under the direction of the First Ward Bishopric, with Bishop Heber F. Allen conducting, and the entire service was very fitting and appropriate to the occasion.

The Choir was in charge of Lynn Fawns, and the hymns were, "The Deepening Trials," "Oh My Father," by special request, and "I Need Thee Every Hour." A Male quartette, "In Time of Roses" was rendered by Messrs. Frank Taylor, Bert Coombs, Ira McBride and Paul Redd. Councilman T. K. Roberts sang "Thy Will Be Done," and Mrs. Blanche Scoville sang "Farewell To Thee," accompanied on the Piano by Mrs. Paul Dahl, and the Guitar by Jos. McLean.

The opening prayer was offered by Bishop T. W. Harris of Taber, and the Benediction by Pres. J. V. Evans.

A special tribute to the integrity, faithfulness and high esteem in which he was held as co-worker by the Mayor and Council, was read by Bishop Allen, who also stated that the splendid crowd showed the esteem in which this splendid man and his family was held by the people of Raymond and Southern Alberta.

The speakers were Mayor W. G. Meeks, Ex-Bishop Haines, a co-worker in the Bishopric with R. A. VanOrman as first Bishop of Taber, Pres. O. H. Snow, E. A. Price, who for many years lived with the VanOrman family because of the death of his own father, Pres. A. E. Palmer of the Lethbridge Stake, and Pres. H. S. Allen of the Taylor Stake.

All speakers lauded the example, devotion and integrity of the deceased, and Mayor Meeks stated that he always had the interest of the people at heart in whatever he did, and there was no one more worthy to counsel the young than was deceased. No town of two thousand people was better policed than was Raymond, under the watchful eye of Constable VanOrman, said the Mayor in concluding his remarks.

Secretary O. H. Snow stated that all tributes given were well deserved by the deceased. His mistakes were not wilful and as a Christian he has done his duty well. A poem by Edgar A. Guest, read by the speaker, entitled "When You Come to Know a Fellow," expressed his sentiments, and was the keynote of though by all of the other speakers.

Christensen Bros. of Lethbridge had charge of the remains, and after the services here, they were taken back to Lethbridge, and on Monday were taken to Taber, where another service was held, because of the request of the many close and intimate friends of the family there.

Interment took place in the family plot in Taber, beside other members of the family who were buried there.

Jacks Lose To Victoria Blues

Raymond's hopes for a Dominion crown in the Basketball world went glimmering last Friday night in Victoria, when the Victoria "Blue Ribbons" beat them with a 28-44 score in the second game of the series to win two straight and cinch the Western title and qualify to meet the Eastern contenders at Victoria the last of this month.

Playing the Victoria boys to a fairly close game Wednesday night, with a score of 28-35, everyone hoped that with a day's rest and the advantage of the one game, and a workout or two on the huge 90X54 foot floor, that the Jacks would come back Friday night, and give the Victoria fans something to think about in the way of Basketball.

They didn't. They surely had a night off, and the Coast quint beat them to the tune of 28-44. Whether it was the sea air, the city streets, or what no one seems to know, but the fact remains that Raymond lost out.

Well, cheer up, fans, we shouldn't feel too badly. To have a team from a town the size of Raymond take the Provincial crown, and be in the spotlight almost to the last in Dominion playdowns is worthy of mention, and add to this the accomplishments of the Idlers in only losing the Provincial title by four points, and we can all say that we have had a successful winter in Basketball and that our players in every team have done the town proud, and we will be looking forward next year to even greater accomplishments.

Easter hikes received a knock-out when the storm arrived, and kids found themselves penned in with big plans but no way of carrying them out. Well, such is life.

EASTER STORM ARRIVES ON TIME

Following a beautiful summery day on Saturday, the skies clouded up that evening looked threatening Sunday forenoon, and just after noon Sunday, snow commenced falling, very lightly, and continued this way all afternoon. Toward evening the skies looked pretty light in the north, and every one retired expecting to see clear skies and a bright sun Monday morning.

What a surprise. The snow was about eight inches deep on the level by daylight Monday morning, and still coming and the sun was nowhere to be seen. Monday afternoon the snow stopped and the weather warmed up some, but little melting took place Monday, except in the roads where traffic was more or less steady. Roads were heavy because of the snow, and dirt roads were practically impassable.

Tuesday the sun commenced working, and by evening Tuesday the snow had diminished to a depth of three inches or so, and many spots were bare. Wednesday the sun was also melting it some more and the air was warm.

It is to be hoped that the grass will get a chance to start now, as farmers over the district are getting low on feed and if feeding is necessary much longer, the loss of stock will be considerable.

Temple Excursion Sets High Record

Genealogical Committee of the Stake and Ward, and headed by Earl P. Tanner, Stake Genealogical Chairman, members of the Taylor Stake journeyed to the Cardston Temple on Friday, April 14th, and set a new record for the Temple, when 612 endowments were performed.

It was a Dominion holiday, which permitted everyone to go, and the response and enthusiasm exceeded the fondest hopes of the organizers as there was an average of 192 people in each of the six companies, which was just the proper size, and prevented the crowding and tiresome waits that sometimes characterize such excursions as this one.

The Magrath people, or at least many of them made the trip in the Greyhound bus, which was chartered for the occasion, and in the first company, which was made up of the Magrath two wards, and which started through at 7 a.m., there were 97 people which meant that many of them had sacrificed their morning sleep to be there so early to take part. Raymond 1st and Stirling made up the second company at 9 a.m., and Raymond 2nd and Welling the third company which met at 11 a.m. Then at 1, 3, and 5, these three companies went through again, the last of the third company getting out shortly after 9 p.m., so that by 11 nearly every one was home again.

Cars of modern and ancient vintage, trucks, and as stated the bus, were pressed into service for the trip, and besides the 612 endowments many sealings were performed, especially of families heretofore unprovided for.

The thanks of the entire company are due President Wood and his co-workers in the Temple for their kindness and consideration and planning for the long and arduous day, many of these people being at the Temple from 6:30 in the morning until 9 at night with only a few moments rest, and barely time for something to eat.

Everyone enjoyed the privileges that the day afforded, and many were heard to comment at the conclusion "Why don't we have more trips like this." It was a source of joy to the Committees in charge to have such splendid support, and it is proof of the faith and integrity of the members of the Stake, that even under trying circumstances they would rally in such numbers and make the effort and sacrifice necessary to make a Stake Excursion such an outstanding success as this proved to be.

Farmers are getting anxious to get their spring work started now. The fellow who predicted a late spring apparently hit it right this time.

Cars getting stuck following the snow was very common. All that was needed was one wheel in the mud, and there you were.

Monday and Tuesday "From Hell to Heaven" with Carol Lombard and David Manners, and remember Monday night is PAY NITE when every one will receive a PAY envelope.

Two Provincial Basketball titles will rest in Calgary this year, the Stadiums winning from the Raymond Idlers, and the Crescent Heights beat the Lethbridge Chinooks for the Junior title.

A good crowd was present at the Capitol Theatre on Thursday night last to listen to the program of the Lethbridge Minstrels, and were well entertained by the varied program furnished by these young performers, who proved efficient in vocal work, as well as on a wide range of instruments.

Bill Craig took a load of machinery from the local Massey-Harris shed to Taber and Burdett on Tuesday. Before leaving he got stuck in the yard at the rear of the Massey-Harris warehouse, and it took a team and a flock of men to get him out.

Funeral Services for Martha Roberts

Funeral services are being held today, Thursday over the remains of Martha Elizabeth Roberts, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Roberts, who died in the Galt Hospital, Lethbridge, on Tuesday from an attack of Meningitis.

Speakers at the services will be Elders J. U. Alfred, Paul Redd, representing the First Ward Bishopric, and also a teacher of the deceased during her years in High School here, and Pres. O. H. Snow of the Stake Presidency, of which body the father is a member being the Stake Clerk.

Musical numbers will be a Piano Solo "Wild Rose" by Miss Alice Snow. Vocal Solo by Mrs. D. A. Watson and a Male Quartette by Franks Taylor and Co. Hymns selected are "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "I Have Reared of a Beautiful City," the solo by Ira McBride, and "I Need Thee Every Hour."

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts in the loss of their daughter, who was a very promising young lady, and who in her school years, here, was a very popular member of the Student Body. Her smile and sweet personality will be greatly missed by all. Miss Roberts had just finished her first year as nurse in training at the Galt Hospital Lethbridge.

Weather Forecast For Balance of Year

Here's your guide, folks. Cut it out and hang it up. If it's all hay wire, so be it. If it's true to form, then it will be worth something to you. So far it has been painfully correct.

APRIL

Stormy weather is indicated for the first few days of April, centering on the 2nd, and continues up to the 10th. Clear, fine weather begins around the 14th and brings the first signs of spring. The weather gradually grows warmer until by the 23rd to 24th when spring weather has arrived. Easter Sunday comes on the 16th, and farm work should be general by the 24th. No severe winds or dust storms are indicated for April. There will be quite rapid melting of the winter's snows about the 20th of the month. The month ends with clear fine weather and very spring-like. Seeding should be well along by the end of the month. You can plan to start seeding during the last week of the month.

MAY

Clear, fine warm weather continues right along for the first two weeks of May. This gives the farmer three full weeks time, one in April and two in May, in which to do his seeding. Farmers are strongly advised to finish seeding of wheat by the middle of May. There are no drifting winds or dust storms indicated and no worry need be expended on that score. Cooler weather, with some rain is indicated for the 16th, with good rains coming not later than the 24th of the month. The month ends with good indications for abundant moisture. If there are any winds at all during May they will appear close to the 16 of the month. However, no extensive winds are indicated, and there is a goodly sprinkling of stubble fields throughout the province and not large expanses of summerfallow fields. I do not anticipate any damage at all from winds to the seeded crop.

JUNE

June comes in with good rains lasting up to around the 6th or 7th of the month. By that I do not mean that it will rain every day during this period, but showery weather is indicated from the 24th of May up to 7th of June. This rainy period will provide ample moisture to bring the crops forward to an excellent start; nice warm growing weather centering around the 14th; that is there will be a period of around ten days, from the 8th to the 20th of fine and warm weather. Cooler weather again by the 22nd to 23rd, but the month ends with real fine warm weather. There is a possibility of frost around the first of the month. June should provide an excellent start for the crop, with a good supply of moisture at the beginning of the month and fine growing weather for the rest of the time. June will close with real summer weather.

JULY

The month comes in with real warm weather, followed by some rain around the 7th, clear warm weather around the 20th, but rain again follows on the 28th to 29th. A month of fine growing weather, with no extreme heat indicated for the entire month, nor a very great amount of moisture. Just fine summer month. The indications point to it being somewhat. There might be some talk of below normal temperature, frost around the 14th.

AUGUST

August comes in with very warm sultry weather. This will probably be the warmest period of the whole summer. Considerable rain and hail is indicated for August, especially after the middle of the month. The rains might even start sooner than the 12th. Farmers who reside in districts subject to hail are well advised to take out some protection in hail insurance. August ends with a storm period beginning not later than the 20th, and there is a possibility of the first killing frost coming on the 28 of the month. Quite heavy storms are indicated for the 12th and also the 20th indicates more moisture

SEPTEMBER

Rainy weather is indicated for the first few days of September, lasting over the 4th, Labor Day. Warmer weather follows, with quite warm weather around the 11th and clear fine weather for the balance of the month, with no storms indicated. There are two weeks during the middle of the month indicated as being very fine and warm. This will be an excellent harvest month, with three weeks at least of excellent harvest weather. The last week will not be quite so warm as the two weeks during the middle of the month. Around the 11th will be the warmest period of the whole month. The month ends with clear, fine weather.

OCTOBER

The month begins with clear, fine weather, lasting until the middle of the month. The first week will be the warmest part comes on the 17th to 18th, but good weather again on the 25th. Farmers are advised to be well along with their farm work by the middle of the month, since winter is close at hand by the close of the month.

NOVEMBER

November 1st brings cold stormy weather and probably a real snow storm and the beginning of winter. The indications are for a cold stormy month, with few, if any, good days for farm work. I look for an early freeze-up, probably right at the start of the month. Should heavy snow come on the first of the month it will be a good indication that winter has come to stay. Do not let yourself be caught with your farm work unfinished, by the storm of the first of the month. Real winter and cold will come not later than the 24th, with a real old-fashioned snow storm and cold winter weather. Some clear weather is indicated around the middle of the month. You have been accustomed to a mild winter and no hurry about finishing your fall work. I warn you to get your work completed during October 1933.

DECEMBER

December, comes with clear, cold weather, followed by stormy weather again by the 10th. The first half of the month will be cold and stormy, but the weather moderates somewhat by the 22nd, and the balance of the month is more pleasant and agreeable. The indications are that the months of November and December will be more wintry than usual. —Malcolm Gazette.

WILL YOU AGREE WITH THEM?

Tonight in their Meeting, the Town Council will have the problem of choosing a new Police Officer for our town. How many of us will line up behind our Council and support to the last the man chosen by them to fill this important post?

What should we expect of a Peace Officer, and why is it we can seldom agree with the judgment of the men we choose to represent us on the Council? We regret the loss of an officer as efficient in the varied ramifications of his duties as was our late Constable VanOrman. He was a friend to the distressed, a defender of the down-trodden, and as long as patience and brotherly kindness were of avail, a counsellor and friend of the wrong doer. When duty demanded stronger and sterner measures, he was a man who desired to see justice done regardless of consequences to himself or his position.

This will be the question before the Council in its meeting. Who among the many who have applied can develop the understanding, the sympathy, and retain the determination to uphold law and order to the extent that our Town will continue to be well and efficiently policed?

After all folks, what do we expect of a Police officer. It seems from talk that drifts around to us, that we expect the law to leave us alone. Regardless of what we do, the man with the big stick is to close his eyes on us, and let us pursue our way, whether it be wholly in accordance with the law or not; but woe unto him if he lets our fellow man have even half the lee way that we ourselves expect. Why can we not at least be consistent? If our animals get in the Pound, the Cop is everything from a lizard up for not taking the trouble to drive them home for us. But if our neighbor's cow gets into our lot, and someone does not run her in right now, then the law is asleep and is playing favorites with us.

What a souring, depressing, and unworthy attitude for us to take. We expect our representative of law and order to be omnipresent, to know everything that goes on in our midst, both town and country; and yet as far as reporting and assisting him to keep things in order, we frown on the one who would dare to tell, we expect one man to do it all, and cuss him because he doesn't. And, at that, his salary is less than a great many of us would want for even half the work he does.

Wouldn't it be a fine thing for us to decide, that whoever is put in, we will support him in every endeavor to uphold our ideals and our aims in community life. We have our standards, and it will take us all to uphold them. Let's try it, at least.

ADVERTISING AND PROGRESS

Advertising has proven itself to be the barometer of progress.

It has not been long since business advertising was as severely criticised and ridiculed as boasting of personal qualifications. At the same time there was as little faith in the claims of advertisements as in the claims of the braggart. Only the quack and the imposter, who had everything to gain and nothing to lose, then resorted to advertising.

Business is over the standard bearer and apostle of progress, and so it was business which discovered that advertising was a vital factor in all growth. When advertising was admitted to the fireside of business it was not the big business of today. Big business traces its beginning with its employment of advertising.

In its conversion to advertising business was soon followed by industry, commerce and the professions. The benefits of advertising had made themselves manifest in each step forward.

That was the evolution of advertising, until today advertising plays a part in every phase of life and is the working instrument of all except the doctor and lawyer, who still consider it "unethical" to advertise for business. He may place his card in the newspaper, but it is professionally forbidden for the doctor or lawyer to inform the public of his capabilities.

Nothing in life has attained perfection and evolution as an eternal, over-continuing advancement. The evolution of advertising will not stop with its adoption by medicine and jurisprudence, but that adoption will establish another milestone of progress.

BIRTHDAYS

On the household calendar there is no more important event than birthday anniversaries of the children. Times and customs change and it is said the home is not what it used to be, but a child's birthday anniversary will always be a red letter day.

Of course there are birthday presents and great confusion during the administration of one spank or one tug-of the ear for every year the little heir or heiress has been in the household. And sometimes the occasion is celebrated with a birthday party.

Every fond parent knows it is out of tune to punish Little Bobby on his birthday, so the day is inaugurated with solemn vows that no matter what he does there are to be no scoldings or whippings that day.

Unfortunately the juvenile hero of the day has more reasons for being naughty on his birthday than at other times. He is excited and full of energy. He cannot understand why he cannot have his own way since it is his birthday party. And he is quick to discover that the bars of parental discipline have been lowered for this day.

Youthful minds do not realize the difference between liberty and license, nor do they realize that there are other rewards for being good than security from punishment. If the parental vows of the morning are broken one usually knows where to place the responsibility.

A birthday anniversary without temper or tears is ardently to be desired, but seldom realized. For though the honored one may have been a gift from the gods, his conduct is most human even on the anniversaries of his presentation.

SCHOOL LANDS LEASES

During the past year and a half many holders of school land sales contracts with the provincial department of lands have voluntarily relinquished their contracts, and have entered into lease arrangements covering a period of six years. These arrangements, made in anticipation of better conditions than at present exist, have proved and are likely to prove in the immediate future, too onerous for the lessees in view of the depressed state of affairs. In order to give some relief to the situation, holders of these leases, will be given opportunity to obtain cultivation permits, paying to the department of lands a cash rental of four cents an acre for all portions of the land they do not cultivate. They will also pay a permit fee of $1.00 and a share of crop grown on the land during 1933. The share of the crop paid in any one case will not be greater than one-quarter of the crop, sliding down to one-seventh.

Settlers who make such arrangements with the department and comply with the terms of their permits, will have priority right for a renewal for 1934, and at the expiration of that season the settlers will have the first right to lease the land under the regulations of the department. These leases are for a term of six years, renewable for a further term of six years, so that under these arrangements, a settler may have possession of the land for 14 years if he complies fully with the requirements.

In the case of land leased from the department, a refund of taxes to the lessee will be made of taxes paid on the cultivated area, up to the amount of the department's share of the crop grown on the land, provided the lessee pays the taxes assessed against the land and furnishes a receipt of the payment. Responsibility for payment of arrears of taxes in any year on leased land is an obligation entirely upon the lessee.

An amendment to the lands act passed at the recent session of the Legislature, gives authority to the Minister of Lands to consolidate sales of school lands so that any sums paid under an agreement of sale, exclusive of interest, may be used to liquidate the principal monies due under the contract covering land which the owner desires to retain.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

MUTUAL AID

Health, particularly mental health, is dependent upon reasonable security against uncontrollable events in life, such as sickness and death. Lack of economic security leads to worry, which, in turn, means at least unhappiness, and which is, in many cases, the basis of serious physical and mental disabilities.

The campaign of the life insurance companies of Canada and the United States for "Financial Independence through Life Insurance" has, therefore, a health as well as a financial significance.

The idea of mutual aid goes back many centuries, and we find numerous records in history of ways in which people have united to help each other in time of need. It was realized that there was greater strength and security in the group than in the individual.

Our whole modern civilization offers many examples of this principle of mutual aid. We have any number of organizations which include, among their objectives, the assistance of members or other individuals who are in need. This spirit of service may be said to be the driving force in all worthwhile organizations.

At the present time the need for mutual aid is more evident than ever. In the field of public health, we see that concerted action has secured a large measure of health protection for those living in areas which have joined together for that purpose. In such areas, taxpayer agree to contribute through their taxes, to the maintenance of an adequate health department, and so, individually and collectively, they secure health service through mutual aid.

The maintenance of health departments is a form of insurance. Insurance is a form of mutual aid. A group agree to make certain fixed regular payments so that each one of them, individually, may secure economic protection in the event of certain happenings, because of the uncertainty of accidents, sickness or death, the only way in which most people can make provision against such events is on the basis of group action or mutual aid.

Lack of security drives the worker too hard in his efforts to be prepared against such happenings. He worries because he feels insecure regarding his future work and his worry, certain ills may spring. By sharing the dangers which threaten him, that is, by taking advantage of the mutual aid idea of insurance, he can, in large measure, free himself of worry and not be such a slave to work. Relaxation should not have to wait for the later years of life. The whole of life should have time for a healthy mixture of work and play. Too much of either is undesirable; it is the fair mixture of both which provides for the healthiest and the happiest life.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

CANADIAN AUTHOR
MAKES BIG HIT

The literary hit of the year has been made by Frederick Niven, an author residing near Nelson, B.C., whose novel entitled "Mrs. Barry" is described by Compton Mackenzie in the Daily Mail as a profoundly moving book, and is hailed as a classic worthy to stand beside Sir James Barrie's "Margaret Ogilvy".

Although Frederick Niven has a long list of books to his credit, and has always enjoyed a following among the critics, this is his first appearance among the "best sellers". He worked his way through Canada only this century, and at one time handled baggage and freight for the C. P. R. at Nelson, B.C. He eventually took up a small holding on Kootenay Lake twenty years ago, where he has secured excellent local colour for his western stories.

"Mrs. Barry" is a novel of life in Glasgow, where at one time Frederick Niven edited a newspaper.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

(By Edson R. Waite)
 Shawnee, Oklahoma

Pikes Peak rising high above the Colorado plateau casts long shadows westward when the morning sun first sprays Colorado with that marvelous sunshine that abounds in the clear mountain air of the Rocky Mountains. Those long westward shadows fall on an extinct volcano that spouted actively in prehistoric times, breaking away the granite walls and forming a high cone of brecciated rock formation about six miles in diameter. Then came the ice age and the slow moving but massive glaciers ground down that volcanic cone leaving the low rolling hills that form the Cripple Creek Mining District. Here the cowboys rode the range until the early nineties when one of them, Bob Womack found gold. Bright yellow gold glistening in the sun where his iron shod horse had scraped away the dull coating on a slab of rock plastered with gold which had lain exposed since the glaciers melted away.

The magic word "gold" brought a rush of pioneers, boomers, and others, and the cities of Cripple Creek and Victor grew up almost overnight, were burned down and quickly rebuilt. At one time the district boasted a population of 50,000. Its permanent population is about ten per cent of the boom period.

I was escorted through the mining district and down into the mines by W. N. Clark, president of Southern Colorado Power Company, and the resident manager, Robert Moos, both of whom were present in the early days of the development of this great gold district.

All the mines are electrified and cheap electric power is used for hoisting, operating air compressors, air drilling, haulage, and for many other purposes required to mine and treat the ore. The veins carrying gold ore are scattered all thru the volcanic area and cross in every direction, bearing out the old saying, "Gold is where you find it." Shafts have been sunk into the old volcanic crater as deep as 8,100 feet. Many tourists visit the mines and are taken down to see the gold ore in place and see how it is mined and treated. Since Bob Womack first discovered gold, $420,000,000 has been produced, and the yearly production now about $3,000,000 is gradually increasing since the demand for gold is so urgent.

THE CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT, BECAUSE OF IT'S VAST GOLD PRODUCTION AND IT'S LONG LIFE, CAN TRULY BE CALLED "THE WORLD'S GREATEST GOLD CAMP".

Beth Walker and Wyora Scoville will return to their work in the Calgary Normal School on the bus Sunday to commence work Monday morning.

Miss Emma Walscott, entertained at two tables of bridge on Thursday afternoon, and all present had a most enjoyable time. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.
